Chamber Bestows Three Awards

Columbiana Men Lauded

COLUMBIANA — Awards were presented to two individuals and the National Rubber Machinery Company at last night's annual Chamber of Commerce banquet at South Side School.

Citizen-of-the-Year Award was presented to D. W. Bailey, superintendent of schools, for his efforts in guiding the modernization of the present school system.

Robert Powers, who presented the awards, cited Bailey as being the "spirit behind the modernization which took place during the years 1953-63, both in the planning and building process."

Powers also stated that before the building program got underway, children were attending classes in the Grace and Methodist churches because of the shortage of space available.

Listing other development, he stated that, since that time, Dixon Elementary School has been built and enlarged and a new auditorium and cafeteria were equipped in the high school along with the modernization of classrooms. South Side School was constructed and the Public Library, under school supervision, has been nearly doubled in size.

Homer Harrold, who retired last August after serving 40 years as a village employee, was the recipient of the lifetime-of-service award for his outstanding devotion to the community over the years.

Starting as a municipal employee in 1922, Harrold supervised the development of both the local water system as superintendent and the village disposal plant, also placed under his jurisdiction.

Powers credited Harrold with greatly improving the water treatment plant from the run-down condition it once was in to the modern facility built in 1957. According to Powers, the disposal plant is due for an overhauling soon since the village has submitted a program to the government for assistance in financing the modernization.

National Rubber Machinery Company was awarded the new Community Service Award for its contribution to the community welfare as the town's largest industry and employer. Allan Heston and Fred Lacher, vice president and secretary of the company, Akron headquarters, were on hand for the event.

E. H. Hartley, manager of shopping services, for Halle Brothers stores in Cleveland was principal speaker, relating humorous events involving customer relations taking place in a large department store.

New Chamber of Commerce officers were installed as part of the program. They are: Wayne L. Bauer, president, succeeding John Golden, who presided at the banquet; Sam Lindsay Jr., vice president; and Ray McCormick, treasurer.

New directors introduced were Robert Cope, John Hoey, William Kimpel and Robert Williams.

Products of local industry were on display as a new feature of this year's event. A. G. Swanson was chairman of the committee arranging the banquet.

Village Garden Club of Columbiana is again selling flowering crabapple trees. Sponsored through the Youngstown Garden Forum, the three-to-four-foot trees come in either red, pink or white, and can be ordered from Village Garden Club members, or, by phoning Mrs. Wilbur Beck.

A lunch was served by the refreshment committee for February comprised of Mrs. Marcus Hum, Mrs. Jack Newell and Mrs. William Trump.

No Hot Foot for Dad On TV's 'Alvin Show'

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Writers on CBS' "Alvin Show," a cartoon series, recently turned up with an idea which had the little chipmunk characters giving their human father a hot foot.

"It was a very funny gag," said Ross Bagdasarian, creator of Alvin. "but when I finished laughing I turned it down. If we'd used it, I figured, we would have had at least 2,000 fathers on fire."

This cartoon feature is aimed directly at the child audience. Alvin, and his chipmunk pals are patterned on Bagdasarian's own youngster, Adam. And the hapless human figure in the cartoon bares an amazing physical resemblance to Ross himself.

The chipmunks were born in 1958 when Bagdasarian wrote a song inspired by a question asked by three-year-old Adam. Since then "The Chipmunk Song" and successors with chattering voice effects have sold almost 20 million records. The cartoon show followed a couple of seasons later.

"We know that our own kids watch cartoons carefully," Bagdasarian said. "And we know all about children who have climbed up on the garage roof and planned to take off like 'Superman.' So we're awfully careful about what we do—no violence, no cruelty to animals, just good clean fun and music."

NBC's new soap opera, which will partly replace the Merv Griffin show on April 1, is called "The Doctors."

CBS' Lucy Show and Danny Thomas have been knocked down in—but not out of—the new top 10 Nielsen ratings by NBC's new Monday night movies. The Andy Griffith Show, which follows NBC's movies on CBS jumped up into second place. But "Beverly Hillsbillies" still remains the champ.

Recommended Tonight: "Hornblower," ABC, 10-11 (Eastern Standard Time)—an hour drama based on the C. S. Forester tales—and made as a pilot film for a projected series.

Back Checks For Unemployment Pay To Be Mailed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Checks soon will be on the way to about 2,900 persons who were collecting unemployment compensation in 1959, when the Ohio Legislature increased benefits from $33 to $42 a week.

Donald B. Leach, whose resignation as administrator of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation is effective after work Friday, ended the three-year tie-up.

Leach authorized payment of the approximately $336,000 involved Wednesday, directing that checks be prepared and delivered as soon as possible.

The $9 increase became effective Oct. 16, 1959. The delay resulted because employers of the 2,900 appealed having the increase charged to their accounts under the bureau's merit system.

Leach said he is acting in accordance with a mandamus action issued earlier this week in the 10th District Court of Appeals in Columbus. But the question of charges to employers still is no determined, he said, adding that the matter should be brought to the immediate attention of his successor.

The Ohio Supreme Court held a year ago that the claimants are entitled to the increase.

Exotic Foods Sampled By Students of Biology

KETTERING, Ohio (AP)—The menu for "lunch" at Fairmont High School Wednesday read:

Exotic foods: Grasshoppers, Ants, Caterpillars.

And nobody complained.

It was all part of a lesson in biology. Milburn Hinds, a science teacher, suggested that his biology students sample some of the insects they had been studying that are exotic foods in some parts of the world.

So the students prepared their own meal. For example, they dipped ants in chocolate.

There were no complaints. But one student, John Le Haven, ate one caterpillar, grimaced and remarked:

"One is enough."

$98 Billion Worth of Aid

This week, President Kennedy's Committee To Strengthen the Security of the Free World goes to work on a preliminary report due the middle of March.

The committee's purpose is to defend foreign aid in the current session of Congress. The Kennedy administration has asked for $3.75 billion.

Some of foreign aid's best friends are in a mood to criticize not only the 1963 amount but the entire policy. Its opponents never have been more vocal.

Year by year their opposition has been increasing. This year, against a background about Latin America and what some have described as a "revolution" in Britain to win independence from its former colony, their opposition is picking up momentum.

DR. D. A. FITZGERALD, associated with the program from 1948 until last August and former deputy director of International Cooperation Administration, gave United States News & World Report the benefit of his special insight in an interview published in the magazine's Feb. 25 issue.

Foreign aid has totaled $98 billion, he declared—$74 billion in grants, $24 billion in loans. Most criticism of the program, in his opinion, arises from misunderstanding of its purpose.

The objective is not entirely economic growth, as commonly believed. There are four objectives, only one of which is long-term economic growth. The other three are more important.

One is humanitarianism—to help people in distress.

One is military assistance—to help other nations defend themselves in situations that otherwise might require armed intervention by the United States.

The third is to buy short-term compliance in political crises.

This has amounted to nothing more or less than using public money to influence governments in a position to bargain with the United States.

IF THIS COUNTRY needed a Yes when it otherwise would have been given a No, it dipped into its foreign aid fund to buy a Yes. Will foreign aid go on and on, Dr. Fitzgerald was asked. His reply was short and to the point.

"No end to it is in sight," he said. "We're in it for a long time because, on the one hand, our foreign policy strategists will want to have foreign aid available to meet short-term political crises, and, on the other, bona fide economic growth is slow, slow, slow. You've got to start with training human resources and you've got to get the human resources gradually built up so that the country can absorb capital to the point where the country is able—with reasonable management—to go on its own. And this is a long time—a long, long time, at least 25 years or more, in my opinion, for many countries."

IF THIS IS also the tone of the presidential committee's report, the committee will be wasting its time.

American taxpayers never intended to make a permanent project of lading out money to other countries. They were never told before this that their money was being used by their government to buy compliance—that its waste was of no direct concern because a deal had been made.

No one ever hinted that what was begun at the outset of World War II when President Roosevelt gave a flotilla of over-age destroyers to Britain in an emergency was being envisioned as a permanent policy of giving away U.S. property and wealth all over the world.

Why Is U. S. Being Quiet on Cuban Buildup?

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Tens of millions of dollars are appropriated annually to get America's story before the court of world opinion. Yet, when a golden opportunity comes to put the Moscow Aggressor on the spot, it is deliberately ignored.

The defense minister of the Soviet government, Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, made a startling speech last Friday to an audience of 6,000 in the Kremlin Palace. Seated beside him, nodding approval, was Premier Khrushchev. Mr. Malinovsky said:

"We would like to warn the aggressive circles of the United States that an attack on the Cuban republic would mean a third world war."

Who sent into Cuba those offensive missiles and weapons, together with at least 17,000 troops and technicians?

No satisfactory explanation of the presence of this hostile armament and forces to operate it has been made by Moscow.

Should the American government continue to remain silent, or should it present the facts comprehensively to the world and formally accuse the Soviet government of a threatened aggression against the United States and the other countries of the Western Hemisphere?

Does the latest Soviet declaration mean that the United States must give up all plans to take an action against Cuba, even when American lives and property may be endangered, or when evidence is uncovered that Cuba is being used as a base to export guerrillas and arms to other Latin-American countries to start revolutions there?

If any government is guilty of threatening to start a third world war, it is the Soviet regime, which still is active in trying to overthrow governments in the Western Hemisphere.

THE WHOLE world has an acute interest, of course, in the effects of any conflict between the United States and the Soviet Union. A direct threat, however, now has been made by the Soviet government that it plans to engage in a world war even if the United States seeks merely to protect its own interests in this hemisphere.

World opinion could certainly be mobilized by a statement of all the facts showing what a dangerous step toward aggression was taken only a few months ago by the Soviet Union when its missiles were sent to Cuba.

The Russian people themselves would understand the nature of the blunder made by their rulers if the facts were emphasized again and again so that they would inevitably penetrate the Iron Curtain.

Public opinion is a tremendously powerful factor in international affairs. It is the principal weapon of moral force. When the facts can be convincingly presented to show exactly what the Soviets threatened to do in Cuba, it seems unfortunate that a "warning" such as the minister of defense made in Moscow last week is brushed aside and no public reply is made.

The U.S. Information Agency, which has the task of distributing America's story throughout the world, hardly can be blamed. It is told what to say by the president or by the secretary of state. If the official word is to ignore a speech such as Mr. Malinovsky made, the USIA will remain muzzled.

THE MYSTERY is why nothing has been said in rebuttal by any high official in the government here. President Kennedy was at Palm Beach over the weekend, but he must have read the news dispatches. He could have set in motion the whole process of reply making.

He could have taken cognizance of the Russian threat in a formal statement which might have given in detail the steps taken by the Soviet Union in the last few months that constitute a threat of world conflict.

Why wasn't anything said or done here?

The only conclusion is that maybe the Adlai Stevenson philosophy still prevails. He said the other day in a speech in Chicago that he would not be surprised if Mr. Khrushchev ultimately removes his troops from Cuba as promised "unless we make it too embarrassing for him to back down again."

The embarrassment is one-sided. While fear of offending the sensibilities of the men in the Kremlin seems to be part of the reasoning in Washington, no such fear of offending the United States appears to bother the Moscow government.

THE SOVIETS have given the world a dramatic example of potential aggression. Maybe it was considered tactful to keep quiet about this for a few weeks during the crisis last October, but now that the Soviet government through an official spokesman, the minister of defense, has voiced a threat of a third world war, it is difficult to understand why the government here need remain silent.

Is the United States government to be intimidated by such threats? Or will it proceed to denounce the Moscow statement and put the blame for any future conflict where it belongs—on the shoulders of the men who deliberately sent missiles and bombers capable of carrying nuclear weapons to the United States from Cuba, only 90 miles away from our southeastern shores?

Congress might do better to debate the failure of the White House and State Department to put America's story across to the world than to spend so much time on internal bickering.

Public opinion is a tremendously powerful factor in international affairs. It is the principal weapon of moral force. When the facts can be convincingly presented to show exactly what the Soviets threatened to do in Cuba, it seems unfortunate that a "warning" such as the minister of defense made in Moscow last week is brushed aside and no public reply is made.

The U.S. Information Agency, which has the task of distributing America's story throughout the world, hardly can be blamed. It is told what to say by the president or by the secretary of state. If the official word is to ignore a speech such as Mr. Malinovsky made, the USIA will remain muzzled.

It's Nice to Have Friends

Workers Hit Back at Castro

By VICTOR RIESEL

BROWNSVILLE, Texas

Here, among anti-Communist operatives who watch all Latin America from the Caribbean to the Falklands, the word is that the hungry, sullen, angry working people of Cuba have begun to lash back at Castro's own phalanx, shoot down his personal comrades, sabotage his industries and stall the gathering of crops so they rot in the fields.

One of "Fidel's" band of original mountain fighters was shot through the head on Jan. 27. He was 34-year-old Miguel Reyes-Castro, a friend so trusted that he was permitted to become a companion of none other than Che Guevara, whom the Soviets plan to turn into a Latin gauleiter on the South American continent whenever it is possible.

Reyes-Castro was a power in the Revolutionary Cuban Federation of Labor (CTC-R) and used as his own base the leadership of the National Union of Tobacco Workers, of which he was secretary-general.

HAVANA'S secret police reported the shooting as suicide. But the underground sees it differently. He had just left Guevara when the bullet entered his head. He was rushed to the National Institute of Emergency Surgery. And in a great rush to get to him were no less a group of Communist chiefs than the minister of labor, Major Augusto Martinez Sanchez, and high Communist party chief and CTC-R secretary-general, Lazaro Pena. They did not want to hear indirectly from the secret police. They wanted Reyes-Castro's own words if possible.

Underground leaders, in contact with non-Cuban anti-Castro operations in Washington, believe the shooting was a warning from Havana's working people themselves.

REYES-CASTRO was a member of the CTC-R executive committee, which literally has been throwing tens of thousands of workers into forced labor battalions.

This high command, a central group representing the 25 regional unions of Cuba, met on Dec. 19 in Havana. Its problem was to draft and mobilize white collar and factory employees for tough work in the tobacco, sugar cane, and rice fields.

Those who have a report on the meeting say it sounded like an old Moscow Central Committee session.

THE SUGAR cane fields, for example, were 95,000 men short.

Without such an additional force scores of mills would be idle.

Without grinding mills, Cuba will have few exports to turn into hard cash in foreign markets. So the labor commissars decided to develop a "permanent volunteer machetero" corps.

The executive committee ordered its affiliated unions to peel workers out of industry. Those selected must "volunteer" for field work in the Third People's Sugar Harvest. Some will put their time in on weekends. This means they have to work five days in their plants or offices or stores—and another two days in the fields.

To make certain they will not go back home each Saturday and Sunday evening, accommodations were set up including "Economy Kitchens." These have been operated at the fields' edge by the Cuban Women's Federation.

THE WEEKEND workers are made up of cadres whose skills are necessary to the industrial machinery.

This still left a need for additional thousands of volunteer macheteros. So the union chiefs simply went into the plants and picked out the least needed. Then the labor leaders ordered the remaining workers to step into the places left by the "volunteers."

Since not even under Communist rule can one worker be in two places at the same time, the socialist solution to this problem was obvious. The remaining employees simply have to work at night and over the weekends.

This puts hundreds of thousands of Cubans on a seven-day week—each day ten to 12 hours long.

Members of unions such as the electrical workers have been required to give up two weeks of their vacations—and their extra bonus to boot. Despite all this pressure the unions have not been able to fill their "volunteer" quotas.

THE WORKERS are harassed by "combat alarm orders" for the sugar crop harvest. They have to go to interminable rank and file political meetings to entice them into joining cane cutting "shock battalions." But they are resisting.

The frenzied proceedings have become more and more cruel. But still the resistance continues.

Typical is what has been happening in Las Villas province. The provincial CTC-R pledged itself to enlist 5,000 "volunteer macheteros" by Jan. 30, Feb. 1 came and they were 2,700 men short of their goal.

Add hunger to this pressure. And harassment by the Peoples' Inspectors, who are the "vanguard" of the Committees for the Defense of the Revolution. Any man who appears to be eating well regularly or who is not shabbily dressed is suspect.

It was such torment as this which provoked the shooting of Reyes-Castro. And there may be others.

Matter of Fact

How did holy days turn into vacations? Holy days were originally set aside to honor some sacred event or person, and even in early days some aspects of these days were joyful and carefree. In the course of time, the rest and recreation part remained as the religious significance faded.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Am I guilty? Can a mother make home so comfortable for her children that they don't want to leave?

My sons are 27 and 29 years old—attractive, well educated and successful in business. They like girls but apparently they are too contented with things as they are to exert the energy to make homes of their own.

I was left a widow when my boys were teenagers. I have a steady income from my husband's estate. I'd love to move into a small apartment but the boys won't let me. They adore this house. I've told them the first one who marries can have the house as a present—but nothing happens.

Both of these young men have a great deal to offer a girl. I pray every night they will get married and have families of their own but time marches on and here they sit. Please suggest something. — ENOUGH BACHELOR HOOD ALREADY.

Dear Alred: Sometimes the mama bird has to shove the baby birds out of the nest so they will learn to fly. Start showing.

Serve notice NOW that you are looking for an apartment and that they must find another place to live or engage a housekeeper who will stay in the family home with them.

She Calls Turn

Dear Ann: Is my sister's boy friend cheating the telephone company or not? I say he is. My sister says no. Will you be the judge?

John works nights. He likes to call my sister every few hours just to chin. He usually calls her about 8:30 and 10:30 in the evening. The place where he works has only coin telephones and he can't afford the loot.

So—he drops the dime into the phone, lets it ring twice and hangs up. That's the signal for her to call him back. She calls him back and they talk—forever.

My sister says this is not cheating because John doesn't talk on the call. All he does is signal her to call HIM What's the verdict? Honest or dishonest. — DIOGENES.

Dear Diogenes: It's dishonest. Telephones are instruments of communication—not signaling devices.

When you add up all the chisels who are trying to beat the system by signaling in a variety of ways it represents an enormous amount of tied-up equipment for which the company gets no revenue. Somebody has to pay for these shenanigans, and who'd you think it is? You and I, Bub!

Hostess Sextet

Dear Ann: I'm enclosing a clipping from the society section of our newspaper. As you can see, six hostesses have joined hands to give a luncheon for a bride-to-be.

I can understand two women giving a party together, particularly if they are related, or if one has a large home and the other has not. But SIX women hosting one party. Really! I know two of these women well, a third is a casual acquaintance, the other three never have been inside my home. I've always been taught that when one accepts an invitation he is obliged to reciprocate. Does this mean I am now indebted to six women who got together to give one party? Please enlighten me.—LUMPED.

Dear Lumped: Sorry, Old Girl, but when several hostesses band together to entertain and you accept the invitation, you are then obligated to each of them. If this sort of "togetherness" irritates you, don't accept.

Confidentially

TO TORN: "What you don't know can't hurt you" is a meaningless collection of words. What you don't know CAN hurt you—and plenty. Ignorance is dangerous. Get the correct information from your physician and stop burying your head like an ostrich.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Red Hunger Isn't Accidental

Reports of worsening shortages in Cuba are credible.

It would be surprising if new shortages were not being reported. As all Communist-despising Americans know and point out, Communists never have given their victims enough to eat.

Hunger follows the hammer and sickle as surely as the purge, concentration camps and the bullet in the base of the skull for party members whose presence has become an embarrassment for the top of the hierarchy.

But who can say for certain that the hunger which accompanies Communism is not planned as one of the requirements of revolution?

Do Communists, when taking over a country that has not learned how their modern version of Marxism works, really concern themselves with the food supply for its people as a whole?

They starved millions of farmers in Russia in the 1920s, when their aim was to rid themselves of the opposition of the agrarians and to enhance the importance of the industrial masses in the cities.

Even if they knew how to make their unnatural system produce a decent standard of living, would they be concerned over a shortage of food? It isn't likely.

Communists are authoritarians; their ideology is less important than their method. They know what every animal trainer knows—that desire for food is the principle element in discipline.

No one ever heard of a Communist party member going hungry. The best food, the best clothing, the best living quarters are reserved for the faithful.

It gives all who are ill-fed, ill-clothed and ill-housed, as an astute U.S. politician once grouped them, a powerful incentive to comply with the party in power.

The Cubans are finding out what millions have found out before them under the heel of authoritarians. No one will be much, but those who make trouble won't eat at all. Better to be red than dead, once the authoritarians take control.

It's enough to give the owners a breakdown, the way autos do in the wintertime.

Maybe some people go around blowing their own horns because they're in a perpetual fog.

Concert Association

One of Salem's cultural assets is the Northern Columbiana County Community Concerts Association which brings distinguished musical artists here to present programs usually heard in metropolitan centers.

The Association will hold its 17th annual membership drive next week, during which time newcomers may register, along with the many renewals which are expected. As its name implies, the association encompasses an area beyond the confines of Salem proper and many music lovers from the surrounding communities thus enjoy the concerts each winter season.

The good music that is made available is a rewarding experience for the Association's some 900 members. If you were too late in availing yourself of the opportunity to sign up last year, don't put it off now. Attendance at the concerts is by membership card only.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

One oddity of the freakish weather is the rising chorus of bird songs on sub-zero mornings, proving birds are responsive to light, not to temperature. For them it is beginning to be Spring again, tra-la.

You will be as amused as I am if you keep an eye peeled for situations in which you can point out that people have become too expensive to afford. This is a twist on another proposition: The United States has become too expensive for Americans to live in.

A story about a triton (lizard) that waked up after being buried in a frozen condition for 5,000 years in Siberia is creepy and unusual. Almost as creepy and not unusual is what happens to frogs and toads. They pass from a state of life to a state of apparent death every winter.

I suspect I am only one of 180 million people tired of hearing my government deny things about Cuba, only to be forced to admit they were true. Haven't those people in Washington ever heard of "No comment" when they feel like lying but are afraid of getting caught?

I offer this as a suggestion to anyone who hasn't found it out for himself: that to keep warm in extremely cold weather two pairs of light socks, two pairs of light gloves, two layers of light clothing are warmer than one layer of heavy clothing.

The New York and Cleveland newspaper strikes are remarkable demonstrations of compliance, no mistake about it. They will be unmatched in our time as demonstrations of ability to inflict arbitrary economic ruin and will be recorded in the history of labor-management relations as a turning point.

I do not doubt the stories I keep hearing about lice and nits thriving inside those toadstool hairdo getups that are still obsessing some girls and young women who don't realize the parade has gone down the street and left them standing on the curb.

I do not find it difficult to find people who can specify what they don't like about communism, which they despise, but trouble starts when they are asked to define capitalism, which they like. They have trouble getting together on a definition, leading me to suspect communism is everything they hate and capitalism is everything they like.

I am informed by unreliable authorities that when my new snow-blower gets going full tilt they turn on the lights in a town six miles to the east and get set for a twister.

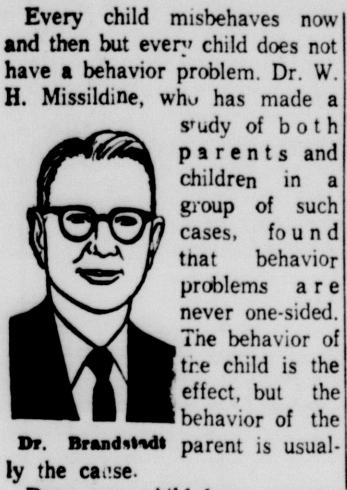

I yield to no one in my admiration for glass as a building material but feel it has been grossly misapplied in a seizure of enthusiasm and will be unlikely to maintain the lopsided emphasis it has been given in the last 20 years.

I have developed a special enthusiasm for a barber who shows me the courtesy of snipping his little shears for minutes at a time while going through the motions of cutting my hair. He knows I know he isn't really cutting anything, but the sound effect is wonderful.

It becomes my duty from time to time to disabuse people who would like to hear me make a speech. I see no reason to let them continue in the misapprehension that people who write can speak and vice versa. There is no connection between speaking and writing. The best speaker I ever heard was illiterate—scarcely could write his own name.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
Questions And Answers

Dr. Brandstadt

Every child misbehaves now and then but every child does not have a behavior problem. Dr. W. H. Missildine, who has made a study of both parents and children in a group of such cases, found that behavior problems are never one-sided. The behavior of the child is the effect, but the behavior of the parent is usually the cause.

Does your child have temper tantrums and disregard the rights of others? Then consciously or unconsciously you have encouraged him by giving in to his childish whims without regard for the effect of those whims on others.

Does he lack initiative or the capacity for sustained effort? Then perhaps you have made it too easy for him to get the material things he wants by being overindulgent. Does he exaggerate every minor physical discomfort? Is he a junior hypochondriac? Then, likely, he is only mimicking the attitudes he has observed in you.

DOES YOUR CHILD dawdle, lose himself in daydreams, and forget easily? Then, possibly, you have disregarded his right to follow his own interests. Does he seem overly serious, worried, and inclined to belittle himself? Then you, perfectionist that you are, may have demanded of him levels of achievement beyond his present development.

HELD IN BANK ROBBERY— Mrs. Gerald Molden, 18, a bride of 11 days, is pictured as she was brought to a Chicago police lockup by federal agents after her arrest in the $9,778 robbery of a Gary, Ind., bank. The girl was seized after her husband, Gerald Lee Molden, 20, of Hammond, Ind., gave a tip to the Hammond sheriff. She was arrested by the FBI in a Joliet, Ill., railway depot as she prepared to board a train for California. She is the former Carolyn Sue McQueen of Cedar Lake, Ind.

Is your child an embittered, hostile lone wolf? Then maybe you have failed to take the time to get to know him. The most unfortunate thing about all these cause-and-effect patterns is that the more you upbraid your child for his failings, the worse they are likely to become.

The only hope for improvement lies in creating in your home an atmosphere of mutual respect. You must set reasonable rules of conduct early in your child's life and then hold to them. Every child who is over 5 years of age should have some definite chores to perform, not for himself alone but for the whole family.

ON THE OTHER HAND, he needs some relief from nervous parental pressures regarding his food, clothing, health, interests, friends, and accomplishments. Parents too must have some adult hobbies of their own that take them away from the children for a few hours every week.

Mutual respect assumes that mental well-being is furthered by allowing each member of the family to pursue his own interests in his own way so long as he doesn't interfere with the rights of others. Q—My son, now 5 years old got the measles at the age of 16 months. The doctor told me he had a classic case of measles except that he had no cough. Have you ever heard of a case of measles without a cough?

A—When I was in medical school I was taught that measles is a cough with a rash, but over the years I have learned that there are exceptions to every rule. A measles-like rash without a cough is common in children with German measles.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: For those who have steam irons and are always having to guess the measured amount of water to put in them . . . I have found a way to eliminate all of the measuring.

If you have an empty detergent bottle with the snap cap top, that is your answer.

Take your empty bottle and some dark finger nail polish and make two lines on either side of the bottle which will indicate the proper amount of water to use each time.

Just pour your water up to the line and the next time you have to steam iron . . . your water is all ready to squeeze in the little hole.

Remember to put the exact amount of water into your bottle. Then here will be no guessing as to how full your iron should be . . . or spattering spills when filling it.

DEAR HELOISE: A friend of mine was visiting my home yesterday while I was cleaning a spot off my rug with carbon tetrachloride. She was shocked that I had found this easy method of cleaning and told me it was dangerous to use. Is this true? It seems like a good cleaner to me.

Y.H.G.
DEAR T. H. G.: Possible death can result from using carbon tetrachloride as a cleaner.

The American Medical Association and the National Institute of Rug Cleaning warn that, although it is a good solvent, it has a high toxicity and may be absorbed through the skin into the blood stream.

It also has an anesthetic effect when inhaled and may effect organic tissues of the kidneys, heart and liver. Your friend was right — take her advice. If you ever have to use it, make sure the room is WELL ventilated.

Another method which works on some types of stains is to leave it in buttermilk overnight. Soak the garment in this and wash as usual.

Limited Sunday Liquor Sales Urged In Senate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Convention bureau managers and hotel and restaurant managers pleaded with the Senate Liquor Committee Wednesday to approve a bill allowing limited sale of liquor on Sunday.

They asserted Sunday liquor, which would be permitted only by local-option vote, is the only way to meet the competition from surrounding states for convention business.

Sponsor of the bill which would allow restaurants and hotels with seating capacities of 150 or more to sell liquor from 1 p.m. to 10 p.m. Sunday under a special $1,000-a-year permit is Sen. Joseph W. Bartunek, D - Cuyahoga. The bill would be effective only upon an affirmative vote of the people in affected areas.

Capt. H. Mowery, executive secretary of the Ohio Hotels Association, told the committee that the sole motive behind the bill "is that it will be a means of retaining the convention business we have now and, we hope, a means of attracting new business."

Bartunek told the committee that the only idea behind the proposal is to attract national conventions over weekends.

Edward Brennan, general manager of the Cleveland Convention and Visitors Bureau, said passage of the permissive bill to allow limited Sunday liquor sales would put Ohio in a better competitive position with New York, Florida, California, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Kentucky in attracting conventions.

Robert W. Bashor, general manager of the Columbus Convention Bureau, told the committee conventions were a $20-million business in Columbus last year and that the Sunday liquor sale bill is wanted by convention managers in Cleveland, Dayton, Cincinnati and Toledo, as well as Columbus.

Backing him up was Robert Henry, executive director of the Ohio Restaurant Association, who said a majority of the members of his group supports the proposal.

While he was at it, Kennedy urged every remaining state legislature to join the 13 which have ratified the proposed 24th Amendment to the Constitution which would outlaw the payment of poll taxes as a requirement for voting. Kennedy had no legislation to recommend in the realm of racial discrimination in employment. But he held a sort of club over labor unions accused of discrimination, saying he hoped administrative and legal action would make legislation unnecessary.

President Ben Weingart had postponed last night's meeting but five members appeared to hear comments from persons who might not have known the session was delayed. Weingart was ill and unable to attend. No official action was taken.

Members attending were Walter Johnson, Negley; William Werner, Salem; I. F. Skeels, Lisbon RD 4; Edwin Thompson and Richard Stockman, Lisbon, and Richard Stamp, Salem, secretary.

Discussion Held On Annexing Area North of City

A general discussion on the possibility of annexing to Salem an area north of the city took place at a meeting of the Annexation Study Committee in City Hall Wednesday evening.

The committee, which is comprised of representatives of Perry Township, Salem officials and other interested persons, talked about the possibility of adding to Salem proper an area containing 105 homes and 98 lots situated between Routes 45 and 62, immediately north of Salem and south of the Mahoning County limits.

The territory under discussion has a reported total valuation of $1,800,000 and a tax value of $724,400.

The general discussion also included tentative plans for supplying sewage to the area.

The next meeting of the Annexation Study Committee is set for 7:30 p.m. March 20, in City Hall.

World Situations Change From Cheery to Bleary In Short Time

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Dismay and disarray.

Those two words paint a world which all in a few weeks changed from cheery to bleary. What looked like turned to ice. Peace became as slippery as grease.

Talk—big, hot, critical, nagging, and some of it just bombast—compounded the human predicament which for a short time, as it turned out, had seemed as quiet as a lily pad on a mill pond in the evening.

It was only a few weeks ago—after Premier Khrushchev had meekly pocketed his Cuban missiles and shut his lip—that even President Kennedy was moved to think things might be getting better.

Then French President de Gaulle threw a match in the gasoline can.

To show he looked upon the British almost as intruders in Europe, he called them "Anglo-Saxons" and blackballed membership for them in the exclusive international club called the Common Market.

And, if this wasn't enough to upset the alliance, he snubbed the United States by turning down Kennedy's still vague plan for some kind of NATO pool of nuclear weapons.

The British promptly criticized him. So did the United States. And, as if things weren't fouled up enough, the United States criticized Canada, which had been minding its own business, for not using U.S. nuclear weapons.

The Canadians criticized back. And in England, meanwhile, Prime Minister Macmillan was being criticized for accepting Kennedy's offer of Polaris missiles instead of Skybolt missiles which Americans now said weren't as good.

Dismay swept Congress when it began to realize Khrushchev was playing with a marked deck. He had pulled his missiles out of Cuba but not thousands of Soviet troops. So, it turned out, he wasn't being so meek after all.

Republicans in Congress criticized Kennedy's foreign policy. Democrats in Congress criticized Republicans for criticizing Kennedy which, they said, was certainly contrary to bipartisan foreign policy as they understood it.

The Red Chinese had been nagging their Russian friends for talking peaceful coexistence and the Russians nagged them for being reactionaries for not wanting it.

Western eyes got big with a luminous look: They envisioned a kind of Communist earthquake which would split apart the Communist world. The eyes clouded, however, when Khrushchev fell all over the Chinese ambassador at a party.

The Chinese, who could recognize soft soap when they smelled it, nagged harder than ever. And two days later, with almost strident criticism, they showed they were not mollified at all.

Right at this point Khrushchev announced Russia would defend Red China from attack. This must have astonished the Chinese since nobody had been attacking them or even talking of it. It probably didn't change them.

Meanwhile Khrushchev had set the Americans to biting at one another by suddenly promising to remove some of his troops in Cuba but not all. He didn't have to be a magician to figure what came next.

Demands in this country that Kennedy get the Russians out of Cuba although how he could do it without getting into war with Russia is something no one has explained yet.

While all this got the kettle boiling like in the olden days of a few months ago, two planes, which the United States said had come from Cuba, attacked a shrimp boat between this country and Cuba. Fidel Castro denied the charge.

The boat was unmarked and unhit and the two-man crew was uninjured. But some members of Congress called for "hot pursuit" the next time it happened although they didn't know how or why it happened the first time.

Americans were still nursing their feelings over this escapade when Soviet Defense Minister Rodion Malinovsky — although why he butted in isn't clear — announced an American attack on Cuba meant war with Russia.

And Wednesday Khrushchev denounced American "wild men" for talking about invading Cuba and practically promised to eat the "big sharks" of American "imperialism."

So things are back to normal and everybody can relax for half a second.

MAN SHOT TO DEATH
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Chris C. Austin, 33, of Rt. 2, Chillicothe, was shot to death Wednesday night at the Oasis Bar on Mount Vernon Avenue, city police reported.

Officers said Austin suffered a bullet wound in the left chest. No arrests had been made early today, but several witnesses were being questioned.

Water Development Program Stressed
Soil Conservation District
Widens Scope of Activities

The annual report of the Columbiana County Soil and Water Conservation District declares that because new technical and scientific knowledge has broadened the concept of soil conservation, it has now become necessary to extend the program to include a wider range of development activities.

The organization has added "water" to its title because it believes every farm is a watershed and every farmer who manages his land wisely through the conservation and application of needed soil and water measures is carrying on a watershed program.

Another change that has come about, due perhaps to the steadily increasing pressure of the population boom, is a need to set aside land for the use of future generations. The organization plans to do this through the "rural area development" and "recreation" program.

"LAND USE ADJUSTMENTS and application of erosion and water control measures are needed to prevent damage to the agricultural land in the county, and this is our first consideration," Dawson Irey, chairman of the board, says.

Land use adjustments, including practices and measures designed to develop resources for greater usefulness to all, are needed. This can be done by providing services on non-agricultural land through a rural area, recreational and forest development program, Irey states.

"Our aim is to plan and use each acre of land according to its capabilities, considering first the needs of the farmer, who is our biggest conservation of natural resources."

Irey describes conservation farming as a method of building the soil while using it. "It is a planned program, not just a collection of individual and unrelated practices. The over-all plan considers all land uses, soil, climate, adapted crops and the resources and needs of the individual, and is tailored to fit his needs."

A GOOD CROP ROTATION is a basic requirement for soil and water conservation on cultivated land and consists of planting various crops in a regular system that will reduce erosion and keep the land productive.

Cover crops are thick-growing crops usually planned as a part of a rotation for soil improvement and erosion control. They are used at a time when there are few or no other plants to protect the land from wind or water damage. Both legumes and grasses make good cover crops.

Good pastures are a result of good land use, proper seed bed preparation, proper seeding and fertilization and rotation grazing.

Farm ponds are used to conserve water for use on the farm, water for livestock for spraying, for fighting fires and recreation. Properly fertilized and managed, ponds are an excellent source of fish. If water is needed for livestock and the soil is not good for farm pond, a spring development is a good consideration to fit water needs.

GROWING TREES ON steep and rocky land will return more income from forest products than from cultivated crops or pasture. Trees also conserve soil and water where all other conservation measures fail.

Contouring is the farming of sloping land, on the level. Plowing, planting and cultivating around the slope so that each row forms a miniature terrace to hold water and prevent washing.

Last year's conservation progress in the county, with figures pertaining to the last 20 years in parentheses, follows:

District cooperators, 50 (883); basic plans, 55 (830); revisions, 12 (none); conservation cropping system, 792 (39,919); contour farming, 1,204 (3,910); cover or green manure crops, 322 (1,790) acres; diversions, 3,925 (301,033) feet; farm ponds 19 (186); fishpond stocking, 7 (108); grassed waterways, 10 (105) acres;

HAYLAND PLANTING, 385 (507) acres; pasture and wayland renovation, 195 (22,396) acres; plow planting, 200 (465) acres; spring development, 1 (35); contour strip cropping, 587 (29,783) acres; field strip cropping, 815 (1,842) acres; mains and laterals, 770 feet (56) miles; tile drains, 83,435 feet, (203) miles; tree planting, 206 (2,567) acres; wildlife habitat development, 127 (1,632) acres; and woodland weeding, 26 (5,861) acres.

The conservation district also assisted with the following: soil stewardship and rural life material was distributed; assisted vocation class at Beaver Local School, furnished material for pupils on conservation, school conservation tours and science fairs;

Named a "farmer of the year," celebrated anniversary of first board meeting; sponsored two 4-Hers to Camp Ohio; held rural-urban tour; distributed place mats and other educational materials and furnished information to newspapers, and radio stations.

White House Shelter
Is Being Modernized

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House bomb shelter is being modernized. The cost is estimated at about $500,000.

Andrew T. Hatcher, assistant press secretary, confirmed Wednesday that the work of modernizing the bomb shelter to include a modern communications system is well under way.

The underground shelter was first built during World War II when Franklin D. Roosevelt was president. It was improved during the administration of Dwight D. Eisenhower.

It is estimated that about two million U.S. families own some form of vacation retreat or weekend home.

nation disarmament negotiations. They said they thought agreement still was possible.

The external evidence pointed the other way.

The Soviet terms for a test ban are simple: A maximum of three on-site inspections per year to check on indications of underground nuclear explosions and three sealed seismograph recorders—black boxes—on Soviet territory.

Premier Khrushchev told a Kremlin audience Wednesday, "nothing more can be expected from us."

The U.S. and British governments consider three inspections and three black boxes totally inadequate to provide a foolproof check on the vast territory of the Soviet Union. The Western powers have demanded a minimum of seven of each.

The Soviet Union has not given an inch in this argument since the 17-talks resumed on Feb. 12.

U.S. To Continue
Efforts for Test
Ban Agreement

GENEVA (AP)—U.S. and British disarmament negotiators seemed to face a grim choice today between unacceptable Soviet terms for a nuclear test ban or failure after four years of negotiations.

Despite the Soviet stand, American and British spokesmen said their governments would persevere with their efforts in the 17-talks resumed on Feb. 12.

CANNIBAL VALLEY by Russell T. Hitt. The story of the Christian missionaries who work with the Stone Age tribesmen of New Guinea.

AMERICAN WOMEN — THE CHANGING IMAGE edited by Beverly Benner Cassara. We continue to see articles in magazines about the dissatisfaction of modern woman with her role. In this little book some outstanding people express their ideas about what can be done to help.

GERMANS IN AMERICA by Theodore Huebner. A short historical survey of the coming here of German settlers, and some of the achievements of outstanding members of the group.

CAVALRY MANUAL OF HORSEMANSHIP AND HORSEMASTERSHIP. Long considered one of the best manuals for teachers and students, this has been reprinted and has had new illustrations added.

GEOMETRY, ALGEBRA AND TRIGONOMETRY by Arthur H. Copeland, Sr. A text at the college freshman level, using the newest methods.

ASTRONOMY by Fred Hoyle. A history of astronomy by an English scientist who is a leader in the field of modern astronomy.

CLOUD PHYSICS AND CLOUD SEEDING by Louis J. Battan. Some recent discoveries explained as well as basic knowledge clearly and succinctly stated.

PUBLIC GARDENS AND ARBORETUMS OF THE UNITED STATES by Martha Macmillan Roberts. Miss Roberts is a professional photographer, her illustrations for this interesting and informative book are lovely indeed, although the majority are in black-and-white, only about ten pages in color. Descriptive text is brief, to the point. Ohio is represented by four gardens.

FOLKLORE AND ODYSSEYS OF FOOD AND MEDICINAL PLANTS by Ernst & Johanna Lehner. A collection of little-known fact and fable about many common plants. The book is illustrated with a very great many pictures from old books.

ACE IN THE HOLE by Roy Neal. The story of the development of the Minuteman missile. It is also a story of the perseverance and inventiveness of one man, Lt. Col. Edward Hall.

AMERICA'S RACE FOR THE MOON by New York Times. This is the story of Project Apollo. Here eighteen articles by various members of the New York Times staff are reprinted to form a well-rounded story of problems and techniques of America's effort to explore the moon.

ART OF SYRIAN COOKERY by Helen Corey. More than two hundred recipes and some description of customs and celebrations from this Middle-Eastern country.

PRIMITIVE ART by Douglas Fraser. The first comprehensive moderately-priced book to become available on this now highly popular subject, this covers every major area such as West Africa, Congo, Southeast Asia, South Pacific Islands, Australia and the Americas.

FICTION
THE GOD OF LOVE by Thomas J. Fleming. A novel about a beautiful but very neurotic woman whose reactions cause havoc in a good many lives and whose story is bound to end in tragedy. The writing is good, but this is not for those who demand a happy ending.

FREEDOM OBSERVED by Gwyn Groffin. A young woman who has more courage than discretion sets out on a journey in a newly-independent African country. Although it may sound like just an adventure story, this writer's talents lie in quite other directions. He is a keen observer and his acid and satiric comments about officialdom of more than one country are not only apt but cause for concern.

THAT SPANISH WOMAN by F. W. Kenyon. Mr. Kenyon presents Empress Eugenia as a very elderly lady telling the story of her own life. Since she was always an interesting and fascinating person, this comes out much better than many first-person narratives.

A SILENT SILENCE by John Minahan. A novel about a subject which is fast becoming a major social problem in this country—and in other countries as well. It concerns a young girl who can find no solution to her personal problem except an illegal operation. A sad and tragic story but one which brings out with force the rapid changes in our way of thinking about things.

TRIUMPH by Philip Wylie. Once again we have a serious writer trying to imagine what the world will be like after a nuclear war. Mr. Wylie has not imagined all-out war as in Nevil Shute's "On The Beach," but our own country is gone except for a few oddly-mixed individuals who have been in a millionaire's carefully-planned shelter deep in the mountains in the Eastern part of the country. Mr. Wylie disagrees completely with our present policy of nuclear defense and he has done his excellent best to convince all who read his books that we are taking a suicidal course.

search for their child.

THE BOY AT MADMAN'S BEND by Arthur W. Upfield. A girl has killed her stepfather—or has she?

Crestview Rolls Over Leetonia 65-54 In Class A Play

Rebels Move Into Finals

Springfield Victor In Only Other Tilt

By LYNN BROWNE
Coach Bruce Weber's Crestview Rebels moved into the final round of the Mahoning-Columbiana County Class A basketball tournament Wednesday night as they disposed of the Leetonia Bears 65-54 in action at Struthers Field House.

Coach Weber's Rebels avenged an earlier loss to Leetonia in regular season play, 56-54, Jan. 26 on the Bears floor.

BIG. 6-7. JIM KRESS copped game scoring honors as he hooped 10 floor shots and six charity tosses for a total of 26 counters, a relative low for Kress, who has scored 40 and above on several occasions throughout the season.

Teammate Larry Athey was the only other Rebel to score in double figures as he connected on seven goals and two foul shots for 16. Paul Conrad and Henry Nemenz were high for the losers with 14 counters each. George Zeppernick added 13 for the Bears.

Crestview claimed the game at the foul line as it cashed in for 13 points while the Bears managed only two of their attempts. Both squads made 26 floor shots.

THE REBELS WILL return to action March 8 in the final round against Springfield Local who disposed of Jackson-Milton 70-48 in the only other game at the Field House last night.

It was Crestview all the way with the exception of a third period rally that saw the Bears pull within six points of their awesome opponents.

The Rebels got off to a fast start and had more than twice as many points as the outclassed Leetonia crew in the first canto. Ahead 17-8 entering the second frame, Crestview kept up the relentless pace and went into the dressing room at half time with a more-than-comfortable 35-19 margin.

THE THIRD QUARTER was a different story. Crestview had a trouble getting the ball in the hoop while Leetonia players could do nothing wrong and were hitting on almost anything they tossed at the hoop.

Kress, who had three men "shadowing" him most of the night, had trouble getting hold of the ball and when he did his shots were falling short. However, he did manage to hoop seven of the winners' 16 points in the third frame.

LEETONIA CAME AS close to overhauling the Rebels in the third canto as they did all evening. With 1:39 left in the period, the scoreboard showed the Bears behind by just six points, 46-40.

Crestview iced the game in the fourth period as it clamped a tight defense on the Bears and allowed them only eight points, six of which were scored by Paul Conrad, a mainstay on the football squad as well as on the hardwood. While the Bears were tallying their eight counters, the Rebels went on another scoring spree and collected 14 to win going away.

Advance In Tourney At Alliance

Salem Frosh Nip Louisville 35-32

Salem's freshman basketball team rallied in the second half to trim Louisville 35-32 in the Ninth Grade Basketball Tournament at Alliance State Street Wednesday.

The Quakers received a bye in first round competition and advanced to the semi-finals where they will meet Minerva today at 4 p.m.

The game against Louisville was a see-saw battle with Louisville at one time holding a 17-10 lead and Salem ahead by a 27-19 margin on another occasion.

Louisville had a taller aggregation than Salem, but the Leopards' shooting was not as sharp. Rick Klepper and Doug Plastow kept Salem in the game with key points, while Jim Lantz controlled the boards.

Salem was behind 32-31 with less than two minutes to go when Plastow hit on a jump shot and then cashed in on a one-and-one foul to push the Quakers out in front 35-32.

Louisville took an 11-6 lead in the initial period and held a 17-14 margin at intermission. Salem retaliated to take a 27-19 lead at the end of the third stanza.

Klepper tallied 12 markers to pace Salem, and Plastow chipped in with nine markers. Scott chalked up 12 markers to spark the Leopards.

Wittenberg Clings To 1st In Survey

By The Associated Press
Wittenberg continues to hold the top spot in the Associated Press small college basketball rankings, which underwent little change after last week's action.

The Tigers of Ohio received five first place votes from among the AP's nationwide eight-man panel of sports writers. With 10 points for a first, 9 for a second and so on, Wittenberg collected 69 points to 62 for Grambling and 60 for Southeast Missouri. The Tigers

Maris Inks Pact For $72,000

Yankees Sign Mickey Mantle To Contract For $100,000

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—They win more than anyone else, but otherwise the New York Yankees aren't apt to cause much of a radical stir in major league baseball.

They shook off the cloak of conservatism Wednesday, however, when they:

1. Signed slugger Mickey Mantle for $100,000.
2. Displayed the contract for all to see.
3. And then landed slugger Roger Maris for $72,000 virtually before the ink was dry on Mantle's contract.

Thus, the world champions shattered precedent not only by signing their two highest-priced performers at the same stroke but also by showing off the salary figure on a player's contract—normally a top secret item.

Why the Yankees exhibited Mantle's signed contract to newsmen was not explained, but probably because the document puts the Oklahoman in a small circle of baseball's 100-granders. Willy Mays signed for that amount last week with the San Francisco Giants, and Stan Musial, Ted Williams and Joe DiMaggio have been the only others in the club.

Mantle, 31, has been an ailment-prone athlete in his 12 seasons with the Yankees but has established himself as a star of the first magnitude nevertheless. Last year, for example, the switch-hitting belter missed 39 games altogether and was limited to part-time duty in several others, mostly because of leg injuries.

But he paced the Yanks to the American League pennant, wound up with a .321 batting average and 30 home runs, and was voted the Most Valuable Player award for the third time. His exploits earned him a raise of some $15,000.

Despite his history of physical setbacks and his relatively advanced athletic age, Mantle said Thursday that he hoped to "play five more seasons at top clip, maybe more."

Maris, the 61-homer man of 1961, was expected to take a rather hefty cut in pay after last season's considerably less spectacular showing—but he'll get the same $72,000. He hit 33 homers in '62, and batted .256.

Idle BG Cops MAC Title

The loss gave sole possession of the title to Bowling Green, which wound up its conference campaign Monday with a 9-3 mark. Toledo finished at 8-4 along with Ohio University and Miami.

Toledo started fast in Wednesday night's game and led through most of the first half. But the Broncos, sparked by Manny Newsome, took the lead just before the intermission and moved their advantage to 38-27 as the gun sounded.

Toledo closed the gap at 55-54 with 8:46 to go, but Newsome, who wound up with 33 points, hit two long shots and a free throw to put the Broncos out of reach. Jim Cox racked up 23 points to lead Toledo scorers.

Ohio University's Bobcats gave Loyola of Chicago—the nation's third-ranked team—a run for its money before falling 114-94 on the Chicago court. The Bobcats took an early lead and held Loyola in check in the first half, which ended with the Ohioans on top 54-47.

Oio continued to make it a scramble until Loyola, with 10 minutes left, broke away from a 78-78 tie and scored eight straight points. Les Hunter led the Chicagoans with 34 points while Don Hilt had 25 for Ohio U.

In the only other game involving Ohio clubs, Central State lost a close one at home to rugged Tennessee State 90-84.

Hutton Tallies 41 Markers

A surprising Lisbon Merchants team, only 1-8 in first round action, pulled off the biggest upset of the season by nipping First National Bank 71-70 in City A Basketball League action at the Memorial Building Wednesday night.

In another tilt, Fad Music handed Shaffer Ford its 13th straight setback 108-38. Southeast Plaza was awarded a forfeit.

Lisbon recorded its fourth win in five starts. The Bankers have a similar mark following the loss. First National took an 18-14 lead in the initial period, held a 36-31 margin at half time and a 53-36 spread at the conclusion of the third stanza.

Jim Tanner tallied 21 points to pace the Merchants. Russ Lehman chipped in with 16, Larry Holloway had 13 and Ralph Lee finished with 10.

Pob Hutton went on a 41-point scoring spree, 14 buckets and 13 fouls, to take top honors. Dick Youngpeter chalked up 13 and Frank Shagnot, 10.

Fad Music is also tied for second place with the Bankers and Lisbon at 4-1. Shaffer's dropped its fifth straight of second round competition.

Lisbon Upsets Bankers 71-70 In City A Cage Loop Action with 31 points. Fred Ackerman and Jim Foreman each had 25. Sam Watson connected for 15 and Bill Pauline finished with 12.

Ron Pugh tallied 12 points to pace the losers. Southeast Plaza is now 3-2, while Damascus Auction is 1-4.

Tribe Trades Essegian For Athletics' Walker

TUCSON, Ari. (AP)—Outfielder Chuck Essegian, one of three unsigned players on the Cleveland Indians' roster, has been traded to the Kansas City Athletics for pitcher Jerry Walker, a 24-year-old right-hander.

A Tribe spokesman, announcing the deal Wednesday night, said it is effective as of Saturday afternoon upon the expiration of waivers which had been asked by the Indians on Essegian.

General Manager Gabe Paul has said that outfielders Tito Francona and Willie Tasby, the Indians' other unsigned players, will report to the club's spring training camp here before the end of the week to confer with him about their contracts.

Topics of Interest To Farmers; Notes About Meetings

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Labor Department predicts the supply of labor available to agriculture in 1963 will be as large if not larger than in 1962.

The department said it does not expect much movement of workers from farm to non-farm jobs.

"While 1963 is expected to be a good year for business, the outlook is not bright enough to suggest much movement of workers from farms," a report said. "The level of spending by business, consumers and government may rise about 2 or 3 per cent over the 1962 level, but this is not expected to create enough new jobs to accommodate the growth of the labor force."

"Of particular importance to farmers is the rapid growth of the teen-age labor force. It has increased at the rate of 167,000 per year in recent years. Teen-agers are more likely to take farm jobs than adults."

The department also predicted a further shift this year of operators of small marginal farms to the farm wage force.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal marketing quotas will continue for the next three crops of cigar-binder and cigar-filler and binder types of tobacco.

Growers overwhelmingly approved continuation of the marketing quotas in a referendum Tuesday, the Department of Agriculture said.

The department reported that growers of cigar-binder types 51 and 52, grown mostly in Massachusetts and Connecticut, voted 330-14 in favor of continued controls, a majority of 95.9 per cent.

Producers of cigar-filler and binder types 42, 43, 44, 53, 54 and 55, grown mostly in Ohio and Wisconsin, approved the controls 2,083-224, a majority of 90.3 per cent.

Continuation of the quotas required approval by two-thirds of the growers voting.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department's Economic Service predicts that the nation's poultry industry faces further integration of production, marketing and processing in the absence of what it called national poultry programs.

"It is possible," the report said, "that the industry will become increasingly integrated into a relatively small number of large-scale poultry, meat manufacturing firms. These firms would combine feed manufacturing, broiler production and broiler processing stages."

Agricultural integration, which is opposed by many farm leaders, has made greater progress in the poultry industry than in any phase of farming.

The report said the development of a federal supply-management program—one embracing production quotas designed to balance output with demand—"is one of a number of possibilities that might change the basis of competition and preserve larger numbers of competitive producing units less integrated with agribusiness."

It said also organization of poultry producers into bargaining cooperatives might offset the trend toward greater integration.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

A word from THERON
at the Country Store

Well we have our frozen food section moved now and loaded with a big variety of good things to eat. We now have a total of 75 feet of frozen food including ice cream. Our meat department has 76 feet of self serve cases.

We are getting so many compliments on the arrangement now. Customers say they enjoy shopping at the Country Store so much more since we made the changes.

Birthday Blessings

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—My wife came into my sickroom and tossed the family crying towel on the bed. "Well, what's the bad news now?" I asked her.

"Are you sure you're man enough to take it, Rover?" said Frances.

"Of course I can," I told her proudly. "Any man who is simultaneously suffering from Asian flu and the gout . . . any man who aches from his epiglottitis to his tarsus . . . any man who can't cough without feeling his foot is going to fly off . . . that man can only smile at any further blow of fate. Just what is the dreadful news?"

"Well, the truth is that this is your birthday," said Frances. "You are 52 years old today. Shall I call up President Kennedy and ask him to declare you a human disaster area?"

"No, just tiptoe away and bake me a cake while I lie here and revel in my boyish dreams," I replied.

Time was when I was a birthday fighter. For weeks before I tore off that annual page on the calendar I felt blue and was afflicted by dreadful feelings of mortality.

Not any more. Every birthday now I share the feeling of Joe E. Lewis, the night club comedian, who says that his first thought on waking each morning is, "Well, I made it again!"

While I see no reason for hula-balloo at reaching 52, or dancing in joy across the rooftops, I find no particular reason for raging against the gods either.

Probably a million and a half or more Americans will become 52 years old this year. If they can take it without lapsing into a coma, I can too.

The fact is that this achievement leaves me with a kind of quiet smugness, a snobbery of success, if you please.

The terrible years are those from 35 to 50. Then every birthday is taken by a man as a personal defeat, as he feels the prime of life slowly ebbing.

But at 50 you turn the corner. Every birthday from then on is a personal victory—if one has the common sense to look at it in that light.

After 50 you feel less guilty about what you haven't done, and more satisfied with what you did manage to do. Your memory becomes each year an ever-growing granary.

So, at 52, I found I had only one birthday wish to make as I asthmatically huffed and puffed out the candles on the cake baked for me by my wife and daughter—to make it to 53.

Won't you join me?
